

Scott Weatherford

Scott Weatherford has been a significant supporter and advocate of Racing for ALS since 2018. He is a happily married father of four children and a Mechanical Engineer. Scott lives in Charlotte, NC, where he enthusiastically represents Racing for ALS at race tracks, local car shows, and social media. Professionally, Scott is an executive leader for a global team of engineers and project managers for an energy equipment company.

Scott's 2018 Camaro ZL1, "BeastZL1," is modified for SCCA and NASA Time Trials competition. He has been successful in multiple races at Scott's home track, Carolina Motorsports Park.

"I met Dave and Scott Lloyd at a track day when Dave was still able to enjoy driving on the track. We celebrated together when David won second place in his first SCCA Time Trial competition. He's an inspiration with his positive attitude, and with your help, we can #EndALS." – Scott Weatherford
